

Last week, since J. Paul wasn't going to be there for Mass, it gave me the opportunity to have more practice leading a rehearsal by myself. It also gave our guitarist, Arianna, more experience being the lead accompaniment for songs for Mass. It was only me singing, Br. Apollo on the organ, and Arianna playing guitar, so it was pretty manageable. Br. Apollo played for the entrance hymn and the psalm, both Br. Apollo and Arianna played for the offertory and communion hymns, and only Arianna played for the recessional hymn. I think it went very well, which makes me excited since it's getting closer and closer to the end of the semester and J. Paul leaving. Tonight at adoration, it's only going to be me, Lily, and Arianna, so that will really put it to the test. We'll see how it goes!